We describe a rare case of a patient with a brainstem glioma, which recurred as a metastatic brain stem glioma. A 32-year-old man with metastatic brain stem glioma received whole-brain radiation therapy (WBRT) and bevacizumab. The patient received additional radiation to the spine after one year. After a month, he developed dysphagia and motor weakness and was diagnosed with recurrence of his brainstem glioma. He was treated with WBRT, and the tumor responded partially. He received additional WBRT after three years, but this time, the tumor increased in size. He then underwent craniotomy for decompression, and the tumor was totally resected. The patient was alive one year after the second surgery. This case suggests that intracranial metastasis is a possibility in a patient with a brainstem glioma. Additionally, bevacizumab may not be effective against a brainstem glioma.Q: jQuery not working after IE conditional HTML tag I have the following piece of code in my conditional 82157476af
